Generation Found is a powerful documentary of young people, families, and their community believing not just in the individual process of recovery - but the community's power of change.

The film captures both the story of families who have lost their children to addiction either by death or imprisonment, as well as families and young people who literally have a second chance at life because of sustainable recovery in Houston.

The leaders, participants, and volunteers of the recovery institutions in the film take viewers on an emotional, purposeful, and functional journey from problems to solutions. It is not only a deeply personal story, but one with real world utility for communities struggling with youth addiction worldwide.

The ADAMHS Board of Cuyahoga County is sponsoring in honor of September: National Recovery Month. The goal of Recovery Month is to increase awareness and understanding of mental and substance use disorders and celebrate individuals who recover.
